About the Author

DP Denman writes character-driven gay romance about survivors. Her stories are real and intense but always resolve in the type of ending that makes readers want to start the book all over again. She is from the Pacific Northwest and bases all of her stories in Vancouver, British Columbia, a city that is dear to her heart. In her spare time she is a dedicated gay rights activist fighting for those who have been marginalized and abused. To that end, 25% of the royalties from every book go to support LGBT charities.

CHANGING TIDE BY DP DENMAN PDF

For Jack Lewis love comes from unexpected places...so does tragedy. When David arrived on Vancouver Island, he was just another tourist. A few hours on the water together proves he is more than that. Attraction draws them together but an attempt at a meaningless fling fails one touch at a time when Jack feels more than he thought he would. The love affair sparks fear in David and jealousy in Emerson, the man who frequents Jack's bed. At odds with the men in his life, Jack tries to talk David into staying and Emerson into going but the attempt could leave him empty handed.

Loved it!

By Michelle Bowman

Jack and Emerson liked to pass the time together until Jack decided that it was going nowhere fast and Emerson was a little immature for the relationship he eventually wanted. Along comes David, a freelance photographer and a man running from his past. Read this touching romance and see if there's a future for Jack and David and what scheme Emerson is cooking up next for Jack.

Loved it! There is so much going on with these three characters in this book. Three completely different men. Each man wanting something different from each other. Love, separation, anger, acceptance, forgiveness, tragedy and all this in a book called Changing Tide. Looking forward to reading more from this fantastic author!

Love, love, love this book!

By Adriana

Jack (captain of a charter boat) is involved with Emerson a self absorbed man who's after nothing but Jacks money (that he thinks he has) and the lifestyle he thinks it will give him.

David is a professional photographer who is in town to take pictures of orcas and steals Jacks heart.

An intense read about two men fighting to not fall in love as they fly apart and do just that. An incredibly mind blowing story about two men finding exactly what they never knew they always wanted. Two men who were searching for something completely different but never realized they would find what they were searching for in each other.

Ok this might sound weird but what I liked most about this book was the way the author started out with a slow build up. Really building on the personalities behind Jack, David and yes even Emerson. At first I loved Jack, felt horrible for David and really couldn't stand Emerson but by the end of the book I was heartbroken there story was over. A definite must read!

Character-driven M/M Romance

By Patti

I am terrible at reviewing stories without using spoilers, so I will just say that DP Denman writes wonderfully rich stories that will definitely stir up emotions one way or another in you, depending on which character you empathize with. The scenes are descriptive without overdoing it, and unlike many romance authors, Denman doesn't stoop to making a knock-off book that consists of nothing but sex scenes. These characters have a real story to tell, and there are definitely lessons to be learned from it. I highly recommend this book!
